Intern.com

Abstract

How do you get experience if nobody will hire you without any?
You need a job in order to get experience, but you need experience in order to get a job, but how can you crack the job market for the very first time?
Internships are one of the ways to break this loop!

One of the major setbacks that encounter fresh graduates these days is that they don't have enough experience in the workplace. Providing an environment where undergraduate students will be able to gain this experience will help them have a fresh head-start in their careers. Although there are a lot of websites for finding jobs & internships , there is no website based in Egypt that is specialized in internships only, despite how critical and mandatory they are for undergraduates.

Introduction

intern.com is simply a platform that connects companies and students seeking practical experience each in his field through internships that companies offer through our website.

Imagine hundreds of internships just in one place available throughout the whole year. Here comes the main goal of our website, offering summer and winter internships in all majors from corporates and startups, providing opportunities for undergraduates to enrich themselves with the needed experience that will help them start their career.

In intern.com, Students will be able to create their own accounts, these accounts will be provided with detailed information, our search engine will then provide the students with the companies offering internships that suits them.

Whether paid or not, many recruiters will value your unpaid experience too and you would have the opportunity to experience corporates' life!

How it works

❶ Different Account Types

- Regular account type for undergraduates in which they can put their information which would be relevant for recruiters.

- Business Manager account type, a Business Manager can create a company and add other Business Managers in it who would have administrative authority on applications directed to this company.

❷ Applications Management for Businesses

- Ability to create custom lists to sort and organize applications.
- Application status(In-progress, Waiting List, Accepted, Rejected) which would be apparent to the applicant.
- Customizable application questions option which could be added to the application by the Business Manager.

❸ Highly Customizable Search Engine

- A search engine equipped with a highly specific and detailed filter options which would make the search for an internship tailored for every user.
